ANSWER TO VOORHEES.

Manufacturer Boyce, of Muncie, Has No Confidence in the Senator.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Ind., Feb. 26.-Last week Jas. Boyce received a letter from Senator Voorhees asking Mr. Boyce to give data with regards to his manufacturing interests, the price of skilled and unskilled labor, his opinion of the Wilson bill, etc. In all there were thirty-five questions propounded by the Senator. Mr. Boyce is one of the wealthiest manufacturers and business men in eastern Indiana. Besides having large interests at stake he is well versed in the business. He has succeeded in amassing a fortune. Mr. Boyce to-day replied in a short, but very precise, manner, but sent his letter to Hon. John Sherman, instead of to Senator Voorhees. His letter is as fol-

"To Hon. John Sherman, Washington, D. C .- Dear Sir: I have taken this liberty, fearing that if I sent this to our 'Tall Syc amore' it might never see the light of the appropriate place. The answer necessary to the inclosed letter is to answer the prayers of the idle millions, giving them chance to earn their bread as was intended by the Creator. The lesson has been hard, but let us hope profitable to the coming generation. We have had enough. Let him (Wilson) pigeon hole his tariff bill. He and his followers should go home and sin no more, and all will be well. Let the millenium come about by the elevation of our race in the old world, rather than by the subjugation of this glorious country and her prosperous and happy people. Repectfully, JAMES BOYCE." Mr. Boyce inclosed both letters to the Ohio statesman. This is evidence conclusive that the Senators are taking the proper action before acting on the famous bill. Mr. Boyce speaks the sentiments of nearly the entire interests of the Indiana gas belt, which would suffer more than any other one section, because of the big iron, steel and glass industries located here. The Wabash Artist and Bigamist Gets No Mercy from His Wife.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WABASH, Ind., Feb. 26.-A telegram has been received here from Sheriff Franzheim, of Martin's Ferry, O., by Dr. A. J. Smith, uncle of Mrs. Harry Temple, who was the first wife of the scenic artist arrested at Martin's Ferry for bigamy. Sheriff Franzheim says that Mrs. Temple has arrived there and fully identified Temple, who was three wives. The sheriff says that the Wabash wife expresses her determination to prosecute the deceiver to the bitter end.

Charged with Assault and Battery. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Feb. 26.-David Lane, a young man residing at Hartsville, was brought to this city and lodged in jail at noon to-day on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill John W. Fowler, a young man about nineteen years old. The young man claimed to be on his way to Hartsville College with his mother to a lecture when he was assaulted by Fowler and a man named Gilleland. During the fight that followed Fewler was shot through the thigh. Lane denies the shooting and no weapon was found on his person. He was unable to give bond, but will demand an immediate trial.

Desperate Hand Broken Up. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 26.-Superintendent John W. Carr, of the city schools, has made a rather startling discovery and broken up a band of youthful cowboys in the public schools. A half dozen lads, ranging in age from nine to fourteen years, had organized a cowboy band. They carried pistols, knives and razors, during school hours, and had all but terrorized their playmates. Superintendent Carr took the youthful des- | chanic John A. Heckman. The complaint peradoes to his office and searched them. He found quite a formidable array of weapons. Some of the boys are connected | him to withdraw from the Boiler Makers' with leading families.

Enthusiastic Auderson Republicans. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 26.-The Republicans of Anderson organized the city campaign committee to-night at a rousing meeting. The primary convention will be held on Saturday, March 17. Never in the history of city politics has such enthusiasm teen manifest. The gross mismanagement of city affairs by the Democratic Council has created the greatest feeling of disgust among the better class of Democrats, and the recent gerrymander of the city is denounced on all sides. Conservative persons predict an overwhelming Republican victory In Anderson on the 1st of May.

Muncie Police Made a Raid.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Ind., Feb. 26.-Near midnight to-night the police raided the fashionable gambling houses of Link Hall, John Swelgart, George Davis and several sporting houses, and are still at work. The entire force was equally distributed, and at an appointed time made the raid. Over a dozen well-known citizens were captured and put up money to keep out of jail. The police say they will burn the furniture. The raid was a great surprise, as Muncle has been running wide open.

Shelbyville's Canning Factory.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Feb. 26.-The court room was filled to-night with people interested in the starting of the canning factory project. Several gentlemen from Indianapolis were present, explaining the organization and its workings. It is proposed to purchase the buildings of the Shelby Distilling Company, just east of this city. A committee was appointed to complete arrangements for the purchase of the property and the distribution of stock.

OLD SCHEDULE IN FORCE.

Order Issued by Judge Riner in the Union Pacific Wage Dispute. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 26.-George L.

Hodges, of counsel for the Union Pacific rallway employes, appeared before Judge Riner, in the United States Circuit Court, to-day and obtained an order that the schedule of pay and rules and regulations affecting employes which were in force when the Union Pacific receivers took charge of that property be continued in full force and effect until further order of the court. The court further directs the receivers to cause notice of this order to be distributed among the employes. Judge Riner, in the absence of Judge Hallett, will to-morrow make the same order in Colorado as in Wyoming, This action was taken because the Union Pacific receivers were notifying the employes that the new schedule would be enforced recardless of the fact that Judges Hallett and Riner had refused to enter Judge Dundy's order in their jurisdiction.

Testing a Minnesota Law.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 26.-The first steps to test the new personal liberty law were taken in Minneapolis this morning. For some time the labor organizations have been putting their heads together over a reported action of the "Soo" road officials. and it was generally known that the test case would lie in that direction. This morning this belief was verified in the issuance of warrants for the arrest of General Manager F. D. Underwood and Master Me was sworn out by a boiler maker, who averred that an effort was made to induce Union as a condition of employment. It will probably be some days before the case is settled. Wages to Be Reduced.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 26.-Samuel G. Decoursey, receiver of the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad, notified all employes of the road to-day that their wages would be reduced 10 per cent. after March 1. Accompanying the notification was a statement that the reduction of wages was necessary on account of the decrease in the earnings of the road. The reduction affects every employe from receiver down to track men on all divisions. The road employs nearly two thousand men, whose wages range from $1.10 to $5

Victory for Carpenters.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.-The striking carpenters at the new Stock Exchange building won their fight to-day. Faulkenau Brothers, the contractors, agreed to accede to the demand for 35 cents an hour and promised to reinstate without discrimination the men who walked cut. This surrender was forced by the action of the Building Trades Council, which called out the 250 plumbers, painters, steamfitters, iron workers and other union workmen this morning.

Confessed to Murder.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., Feb. 26.-Word was received from Mountain Home, Ark., tonight to the effect that Mrs. Anderson Carter had confessed that her husband, with Bert Carter and Jasper Newton, had killed Hunter Wilson and afterward robbed the house of $1,000. Her confession was followed by one from Bert Carter. The three were placed in jail. Great excitement prevails in this vicinity. Men are going to Mountain Home in squads, and it is thought here that the three men will be lynched topight, Sheriff Estman is making preparations to defend his prisoners.

REFUSED ADMISSION

M. Daniel Wilson Denied His Seat in the French Deputies.

Debate on the Russo-German Treaty-Amendments to the Parish Councils Bill Rejected by the Commons.

PARIS, Feb. 26.-In the Chamber of Deputies, to-day, there was a lively sitting, the excitement arising out of the discussion of the verification of the election of M. Daniel Wilson, the son-in-law of the late President Grevy, who represents the arrondissement of Loches. M. Basley, under guise of explaining his position in the matter, wanted to air his political views, but President Dupuy stopped him. This made the Radicals and Socialists break out into loud protestations, which caused a violent uproar in the Chamber. M. Milleraud vehemently attacked those whom he classed as "the allies of the Panamoists," in the Chamber, declaring that they could be found even among the friends of the ministry. The Chamber of Deputies eventually, by a vote of 465 to 2, invalidated M. Wilson's election.

M. Wilson was elected to the Chamber on Aug. 20, 1893, by a vote of 9,505 against 7,398, obtained by M. Muller, the previous representative of Loches. In 1892, M. Muller brought an action against M. Wilson, claiming election corruption, which, however, only resulted in M. Wilson being fined. M. Daniel Wilson was born in Paris, March 6, 1840. He was first elected to the Chamber of Deputies from the Indre-et-Loire, in 1869, and he may be said to have been prominent in politics ever since, occupying several positions under various ministries. On Oct. 22, 1881, M. Wilson married Miss Valice Grevy, daughter of President Jules Grevy. The name of M. Wilson was mixed up in the events which caused M. Grevy, who was re-elected in 1885, to resign the presidency on Dec. 1, 1887. Later M. Wilson was proceeded against, in connection with the alleged sale of decorations, but the sentence imposed upon him by the Correctional Tribunal was reversed by the Court of Appeals on March 28, 1888.

ORATORY IN THE REICHSTAG.

Count Von Mirbach Attacks the Russian Treaty.

LONDON, Feb. 26.-The correspondent of the Times, at Berlin, says: "The public seemed to have formed great expectations as to the debate in the Reichstag yesterday, and the galleries were overcrowded. The members benches, however, were by no means full, except on the right side of the house. The Conservatives had, evidently, made every exertion to secure a good attendance of their partisans in order to applaud Count Von Mirbach's onslaught on the Russian treaty. In a speech which took nearly two hours to deliver, Count Von Mirbach dilated in general terms, popular among the Agrarians, on the incalculable injury that the imperial policy would infliet upon husbandry, but he utterly failed to advance any new, much less cogent arguments to justify the Conservative opposition. It appeared, in fact, as if he purposely avoided the dangerous course of trying to prove his assertions. His opening repudiation of personal antagonism to leading statesmen caused great merriment. He declared that he would leave any interference with the prerogatives of the crown to other parties. "We cling still," he continued, "to Prince Bismarck's commercial policy as both national and patriotic. We would have been willing to accept the sacrifices that the government policy imposed on husbandry had we received the necessary compensation. Baron Von Bieberstein, the Foreign Secretary, in a speech justifying the treaty on a patriotic basis, said he would leave i to the members of the opposition to prove if they could, that it was not politically dangerous to refuse to one mighty neighbor that which had been granted to another. The Minister, whose patience was inexhaustible, then entered into the hopeless task of convincing the Agrarians by incontrovertible statistics that their assumptions were false. After refuting one by one the Conservative arguments the Foreign Minister concluded: "The cause I represent has a strong current flowing against it among the agricultural population. I am not inclined to make light of this current. for, if the placid, conservative folks, such as our agricultural population, shows such signs of discontent it points to a sore spot in our economic life which it is the duty of the State to cure. The maintenance of a prosperous peasantry and middle class is important, but no one can demand that the government should yield to an agitation are not fully informed."

THE PARISH COUNCILS BILL Several Amendments of the Lords Rejected by the Commons. LONDON, Feb. 26 .- The House of Commons, by a vote of 212 to 161, rejected Lord Salisbury's new amendment of Feb 23 in the House of Lords to the parish councils bill, enabling parishes of between 200 to 500 inhabitants to dispense with parish councils. The House also adopted, by a vote of 169 to 139, Mr. Gladstene's motion to reject Lord Salisbury's amendment of Feb. 23.regarding the proportion of elective trustees in the parish charities, Lord Salisbury having succeeded in having carried by the Lords a motion to restrict the proportion to one-third. But afterwards the House agreed to Sir William Vernon-Harcourt's compromise that the restriction of the proportion of elective trustees to one-third should be optional and not obligatory. After other minor amendments of the House of Lords to the parish councils bill had been compromised the Commons adjourned till

Miss Bayard will be presented by Mrs. Thomas F. Bayard after the latter has herself been presented by Lady Spencer.

Taking Turns at Rio.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.-A cablegram received last night by Secretary Herbert from Admiral Benham at Rio states that he had transferred his flag from the San Francisco to the New York. The purpose was to allow the San Francisco to go outside of the harbor for fresh air. The ships are taking turns at the duty of staying in the harbor, and it is now the New York's turn. Admiral Benham and his staff are the only persons in the fleet who are unable to indulge in the change.

MR. WIMAN IN COURT.

He Pleads "Not Guilty" to the Charges Preferred by Mr. Dun.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. - The published statement this morning of the attorneys of Erastus Wiman, claiming his innocence of the charges to which he was bound over in $25,000 bail, to appear in criminal proceedings instituted against him, foreshadowed his plea of "not guilty" which he advanced this morning in Court of General Sessions. When brought to the bar to-day Mr. Wiman appeared a trifle pale, but cool and collected, and as soon as his plea had been made Judge Martine ordered his release, continuing his original bail. It has not yet been lecided when the case will be brought up for trial. Mr. Wiman refused to be interviewed. It is said his counsel will take advantage of the treaty of 1812 between the United States and Canada, which permits six of Mr. Wiman's countrymen to be on the jury that is to decide his fate.

John Y. McKane's Application Denied by Justice Cullen.

Certificate Also Refused by Dykeman-An Appeal to Be Made This Morning to Judge Mayham at Schoharie.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 26.-Judge Cullen has denied the application of John Y. McKane for a certificate of reasonable doubt. The decision removes, apparently, McKane's last chance of remaining outside of Sing Sing prison. It is understood that he will be sent there promptly to begin his six years' sentence. His only recourse is an application to the other judges of the Supreme Court for a stay, but it is not known that any of them will see fit to interfere. His proposed appeal to the Court of Appeals will not keep him out of jail. In the absence of a stay a decision in the case may be delayed for a long time. Justice Dykeman to-day also declined to interfere in the execution of the sentence. Lawyer Joachimson, of New York, appeared in White Plains and made the application. Justice Dykeman at once re-fused to interfere, and the transaction was over. The grounds on which the application was based were the same as those presented to Justice Cullen. A dispatch from Albany says: "Up to a late hour to-night none of the Supreme Court judges in this vicinity had been applied to for a stay in the McKane case. It is rumored, however, that the application is to be made early in the morning to Judge Mayham, at Schoharie, as both Judges Fursman and Sheehan have announced that their views are similar to the Brooklyn justices. Two Farmers Dead and a Dozen More Reported in a Critical Condition.

SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 26.-From the best information obtainable here to-night two farmers are dead, ten or twelve are seriously sick and fifty more are suffering from the effects of eating poisoned meat at a sale held on the 22d inst. in Quecmahoning township. Jeremiah Ringler, a prominent citizen of the township, died this morning from the effects of poisoning, and Alexander Rhodes, a leading citizen and of Jenner township, died during to have day from the the same cause. Those suffering from poison are scattered all over the north of the county. Last Thursday some 250 farmers attended a sale of property in Jenner township and, according to custom, a cold lunch was served. Among the articles of food prepared was a lot of beef that had been boiled the previous evening in a copper kettle and had been permitted to remain in the vessel over night. Shortly after eating the meat many persons took sick, and the sale had to be adjourned. There is a rumor here to-night that at least ten other residents of Jenner and Queemahoning townships cannot possibly recover. ment for the crime is a year in prison and BRENHAM, Tex., Feb. 26. - Mesdames Lehna Behrens and Artella Mahril were returning from Brenham, this afternoon, and two negroes assaulted them. Seizing a spade, Mrs. Behrens felled one of them to the ground and beat him with the spade until he was unconscious. Meantime a dog they owned was engaged in mortal combat with the other negro. With her trusty spade Mrs. Behrens felled the negro to the earth. She says the first negro cannot possibly

IDENTIFYING CRIMINALS.

Bertillon on His Anthropometrial Method of Anatomical Science. New York Herald.

Dr. Alphonse Bertillon, the author of the French system for the identification of criminals, writes as follows in regard to the best means for making it of general use by the police of the large capitals of "The growing ease and rapidity of communication between the great cities of Europe has so lessened distances that the intercourse between the police of the various countries daily becomes more frequent. London, for example, may now be said to ex-tend as far as Paris, and Brussels is practically a suburb of the French capital. In the midst of these daily exchanges of good services where is the officer who has not longed for the creation of an international descriptive (or distinctive mark, signaleltiaues) method and language? "In the other branches of human activity especially in electricity, congresses have, in proportion to the necessity, supplied this volt, etc.-have been created and unanimous civilized (or policed, for it is all one) countries do as much for the description and notation of the different shapes of forehead, nose, color of eye, etc.? "There exist under the name of hippology whole treatises filled with the words of En glish origin for the description of the coat and the points of the horse. For the description of the human being all seems left to chance. Nothing was attempted in this direction until the appointment by Mr. Asquith of the commission now sitting for comparing the different methods of identification and description. "This commission will find at Paris by the side of a system of measurement which has borne some little testimony everywhere, a very carefully considered method of de scribing the human body, and the face in particular. There is in this neither invention nor personal proprietorship. My intervention has consisted in transporting and adapting to the wants of the police the procedures of description in use in anatomical sciences, and particularly in anthropology. "Anthropometry, properly so-called, is only a part of the whole knowledge necessary in tracking criminals, and 'its sole aim is to supply a basis of classification. One is able, by means of the metrical in formation supplied by it, to classify several hundred thousand individual notifications. But let me hasten to say that these notifications should themselves always be accompanied by an abstract of particular marks found upon the person examined, and it is this last document much more than the agreement of measurements which is appealed to to give judicial certainty to an ulterior identification." At Paris photographs of the person in profile and full face are added, which, by themselves, also afford the certainty of identification. Thus the elements of certainty are not wanting. A photograph or impression of the ear would alone suffice to establish an identity. It is, as a matter of fact, impossible among one hundred thousand individuals to find two ears exactly alike (except in the case of twin brothers.) The great advantage of adding to the anthropometrical notification a complete descriptive photograph of a person is that the police are provided with a document which, in case of a fresh offense, of escape, etc., can be looked to to render the greatest possible assistance. It may be well to add that these elements of information, clearly independent of one another-measurement, particular marks and profile photograph (which, together ten years' experience has shown to be absoluteiv infallible)-a fourth element, "finger tip expressions" (l'impression des filigrammes du pouce). It goes without saying that I see no major difficulty in it. But I am afraid that the exercise of the process may at first sight appear much more simple than it really is. In the first place, let me repeat that the "finger tip" process neither does away with nor replaces in any way judicial anthropometry, for these delinealiberal bequest for the medical school of the | tion-that is, a point which no one disputes. Therefore, the finger-tip process of various amounts to relatives, the largest | should be considered as affording supple share, however, falling to Mr. Woods's mentary information only, capable at the mest of replacing photography Moreover, does not Mr. F. Galton himself say that the examination of these impressions can be properly made only by means of photographic enlargements. Then why not photograph the man himself whose measurements have just been taken? I must own, however, that up to the present I have always postponed the full trial of the "finger tip" process on account of the unpleasantness of sending all my subjects before the court with their fingers more or less blackened. For everybody knows how viscous printing ink is and how > difficult to get off. Nevertheless, I have quite determined, if the process should become customary in England, to petition the Minister of the Interior and M. Lepine, the prefect of police, for the requisite authority to add to it the anthropometric description-so great is the impression that I attach to international uniformity in police communications.

of bolted wheat flour, when properly made is an excellent bread and worthy of its Southern name of "light bread," in contradistinction to some other breads, which, though light and well raised, were possessed of a certain moistness of texture quite different from the lightness and delinev of this white loaf. It is true that ing for the murder of Emil Kuckelnorn on "sait risings" were responsible for a great the night of Dec. 9, 1892. Johnson was a deal of sour, unwholesome bread, but this was because it was not properly handled, and was allowed to rise too long or to be chilled. No process of bread making reoulres such scientific exactness, but none better when it is properly made. So often is it neglected by indifferent housekeepers that the entire process has fallen into disrepute, and some persons firmly believe such bread always has an unpleasant odor. Nothing could be further from the truth For the sake of varieties, it is well to try LA JUNTA, Col., Feb. 26.—The remains of some of these breads.
